Dedication

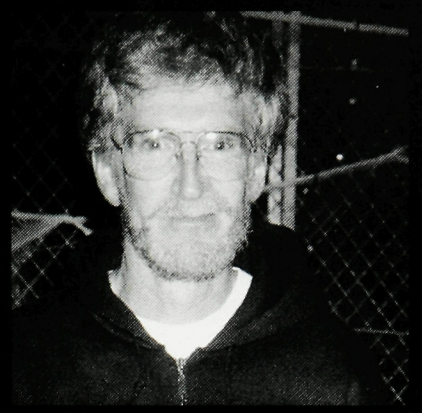

This year's Mirror staff has decided to dedicate the yearbook to a very hard-working and caring man. Between the number of classes he teaches and the number of clubs he sponsors, he doesn't have much free time, but he is always willing to make time for his students. Whether we wanted to start a new club or just talk about what was on our minds, he was always ready to listen. His passion for music and teaching is obvious to any student that has been in one of his classes. Michael Querio's dedication to his job and to his students is inspirational and we will carry fond memories of him wherever our separate futures may take us. Thank you for all of your time, effort and care Mr. Querio, it will never be forgotten.

Goodbye Mrs. Roden!

In addition to the dedication, the 1999 yearbook staff would like to say a fond good-bye to an open minded and graceful teacher. While in her class, the love she had for teaching as well as for her students gave us confidence. Now that we are graduating, we also realize her strength, wisdom and courage both in the classroom and in life. Mary Roden taught a number of the editors on this year's staff and we will always remember the many lessons that she gave us. Every member of the school community will miss her but we wish her the best of luck in retirement. Good bye and thank you Mrs. Roden, we will never forget you.

HOMECOMING

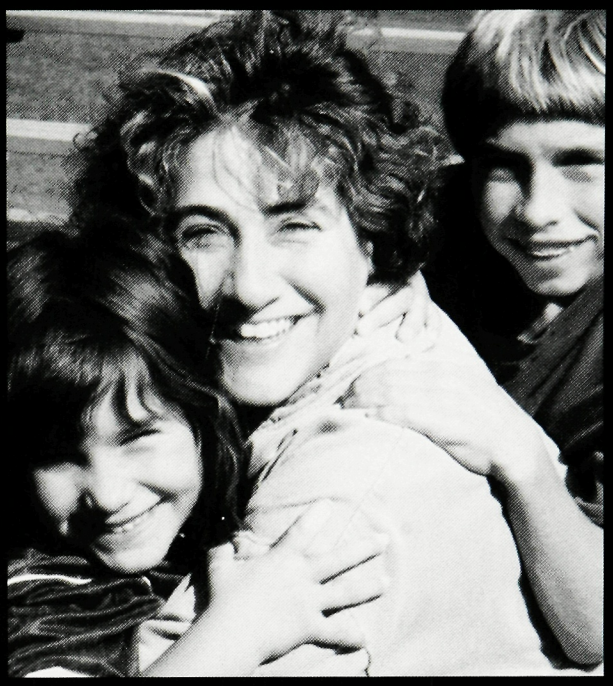

North Shore's homecoming this year was immensely successful; although not every game ended in a victory, all of the games brought the Raider's pride. The week of homecoming was started by spirited dress up days and visits by alumni. It continued with a spirited pep rally with a band and various competitions. This rally was followed with a bonfire that included music and team cheers. The next day, the fields and courts were filled with North Shore's patriotic fans. Homecoming week came to an end with the successful dance on Saturday night.

Halloween

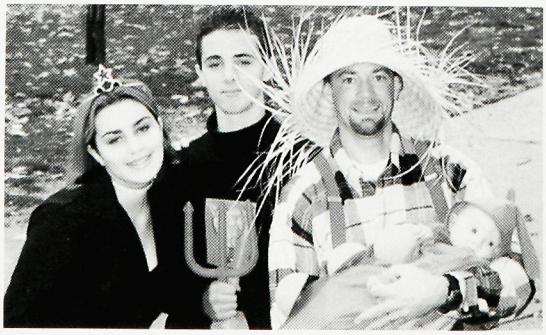

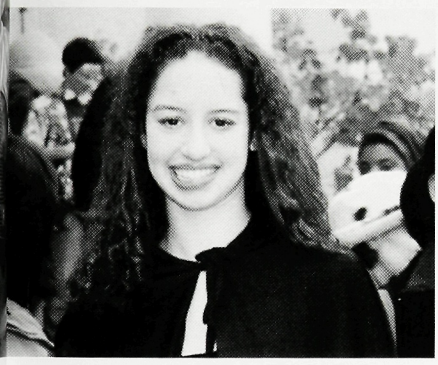

Halloween was great fun this year. Following the North Shore tradition, there was a special Halloween morning ex beginning with Mrs. K leading the whole school in some great Halloween songs. This was followed by the on-stage parade where everybody who dressed up went on stage to show off their great costumes. The gathering ended with a parade around the school by the lower schoolers, but the fun continued the next night when everybody went out trick-or-treating!

Interim week 1998 was quite fun; the upper school spent their interim week in places as close as our very own campus and as far away as the rolling hills of Italy. We all had a lot of fun and our North Shore education really paid off. Some students did community service, some traveled to hike or sight-see and some learned about cultural issues. The week's festivities ended with an interim night a week later.

Basketball Bash

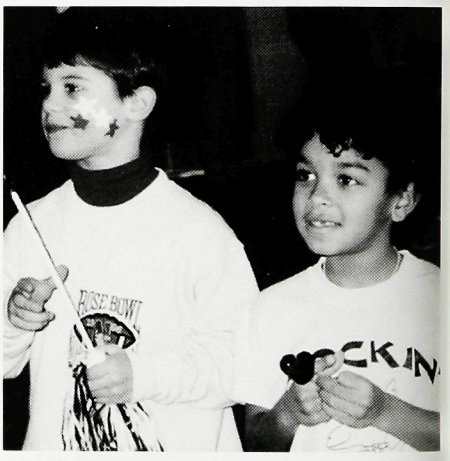

The basketball bash was really crowded this year--it is quite possible that more than 50% of the North Shore community attended at one point or another. Some students watched the exciting games while others played in them. The parents' association sold concessions and cheered the various teams, and streamers, pompoms, etc. were passed around the Mac McCarty gym.

Madrigal Feast

Madrigal Feast is a medieval dinner for parents, students and faculty performed every two years by the Upper School Chorus. They spend the month of November preparing medieval and Renaissance songs. This year there were songs sung by chorus and small groups of chorus, musical interludes on the recorder, harpsichord and the harp, and the boar's head carol which was carried out by our very own Mr. Perkinson who sang the carol as he entered. Guests enjoyed great music and medieval food, as well as a play performed by traveling actors! It was fun for singers and audience alike.

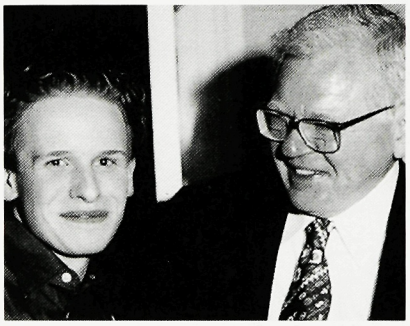

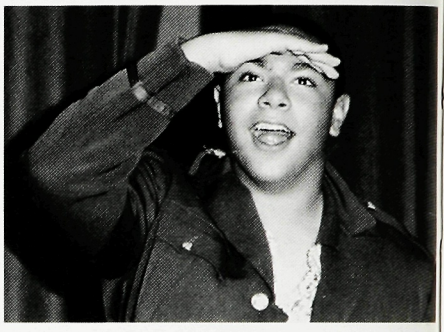

FALL PLAY

North Shore's 1998 fall play, "Young Eugene" was quite a work of art. It included stars from various North Shore classes (freshmen to seniors participated!). It was attended by the playwright (wow!), who deemed it quite impressive. All in all, students worked very hard to produce a wonderful play.

WINTER PLAY

"The Walk," a contemporary play that may be attributed to the creative genius of Mr. Tim Cronister, was quite alternative in comparison with the traditional Gilbert and Sullivan North Shore tradition. It was a quality play that consisted of about 25 actors, and a lot of crew work went into the theatre-in-the-round, on the stage, resulting play. "The Walk" was quite an intriguing and thought-provoking work.

Buddies

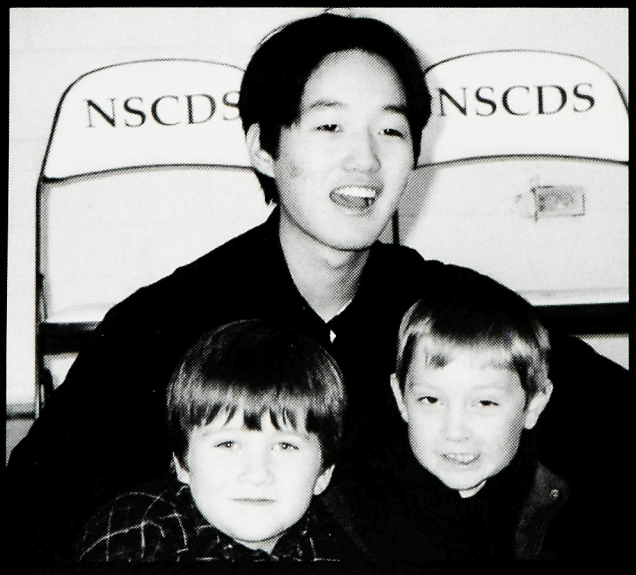

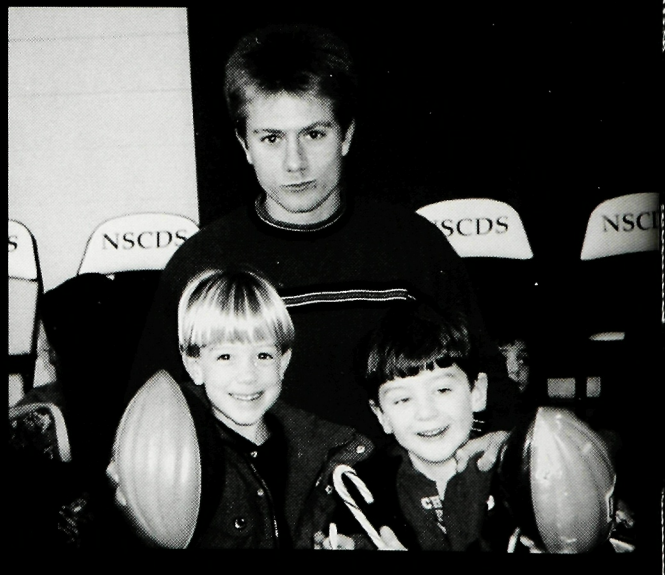

Holiday Morning Ex

The holiday MEx, put on by the lower school, was quite entertaining. It included beautiful music from various religions throughout the North Shore community. Lower schoolers sang, acted and announced the next act as the large audience watched the festivities. There were many beaming parents, cam corder in hand, that came to cheer on their children. The whole program ended with a song illuminated by lights.

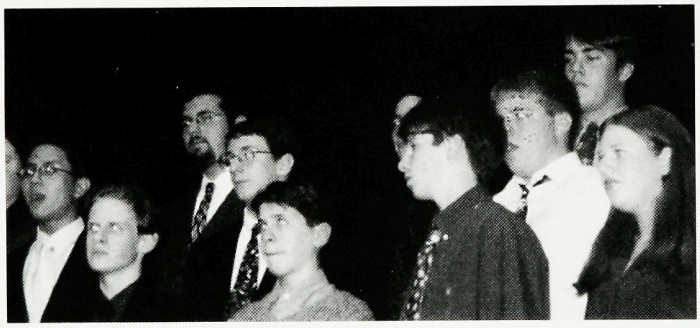

Winter Concert

The winter concert 1998, that took place on a frigid Thursday night, was beautiful. North Shore choir directors Michael Querio and Linda Kiracibasi as well as the talented fingers of pianist Ingmari Wahlgren worked together to produce a smooth-running show that we will remember for years to come. The auditorium was packed with proud families, nervous choristers and supportive teachers. The affair was a success.

Holiday Dance

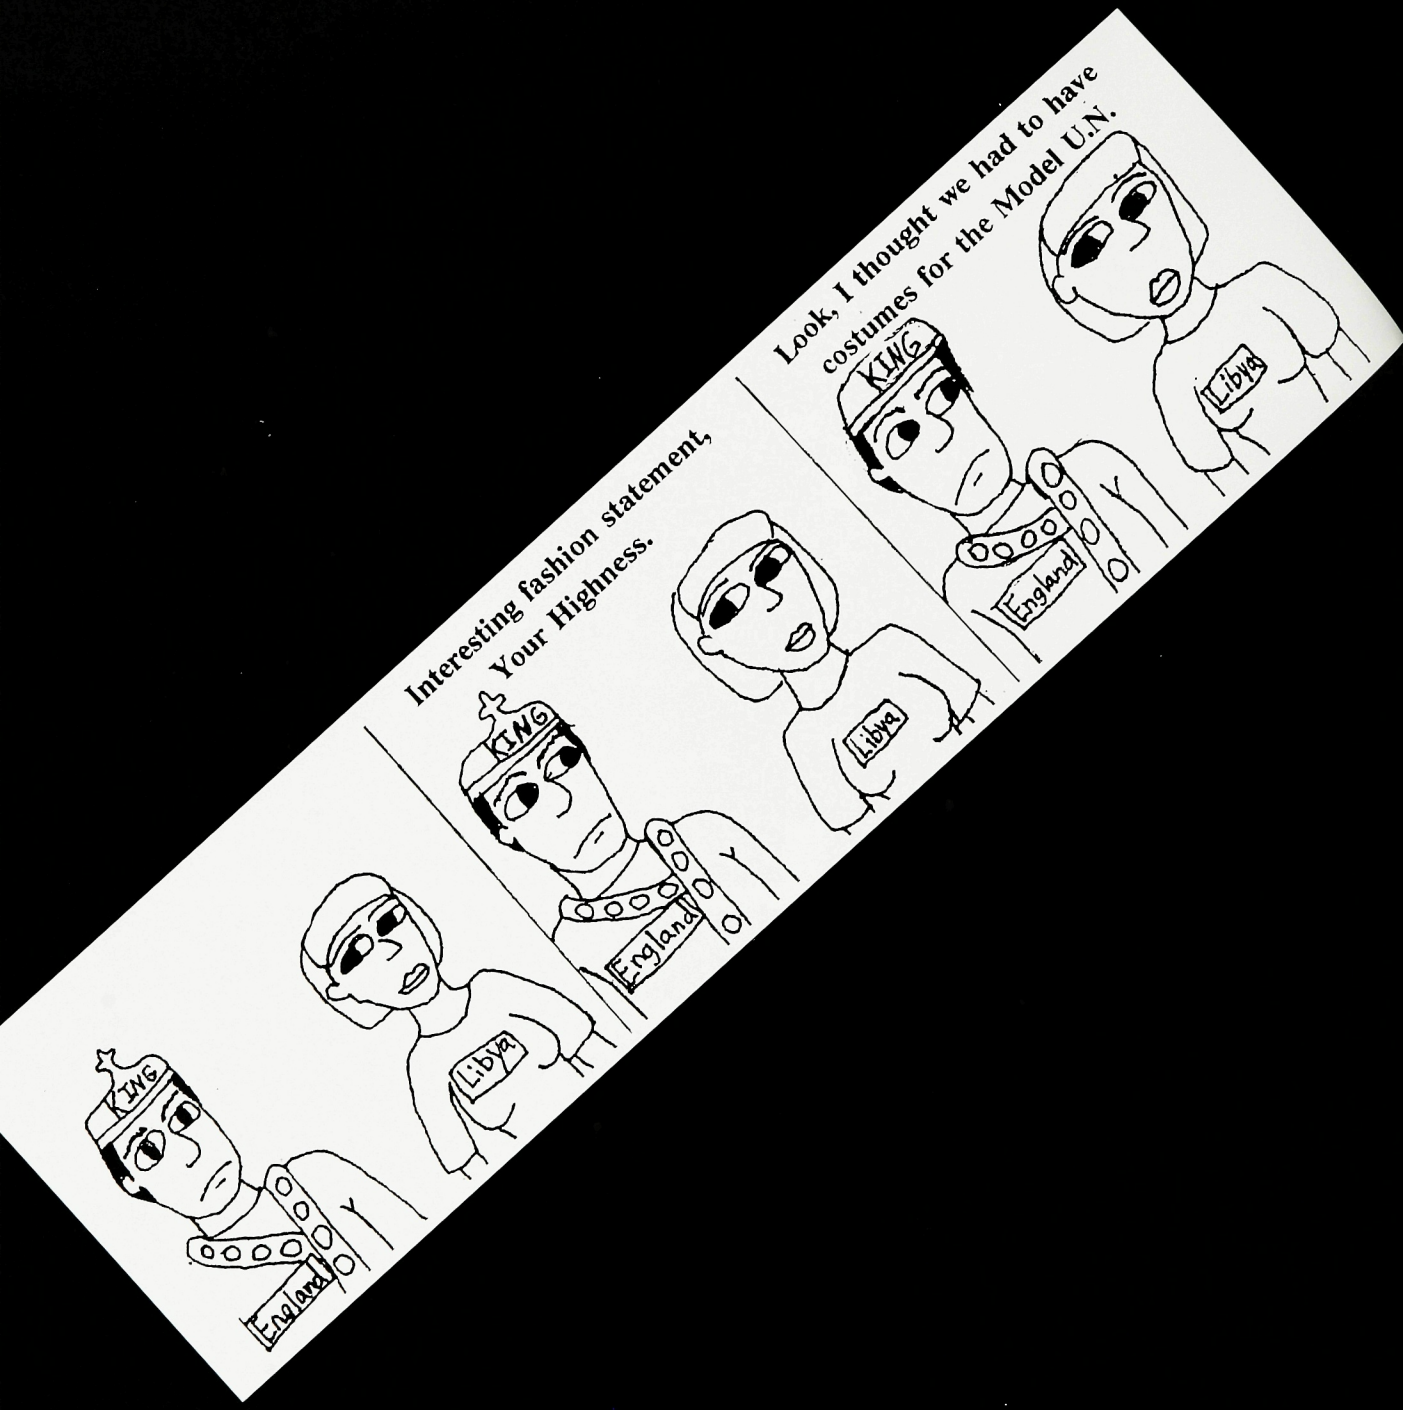

Anxious to get to their sunny destinations, students danced their way around the Mac Gym floor. The program was filled with exotic pieces from all over the world. Santa joined North Shore once again (he gets a little thinner every year, I think!) in the distinctive and traditional celebration of the holiday season. There was quite a wide array of dancers, for even the little junior kindergarteners were able to be in the production.

It's finished! Yearbook members can finally have their lives back. Unfortunately, we lost our beloved office to a classroom (Imagine! academics having priority over a club!) However, thanks to Mr. Cronister, we had a place to dump all of our yearbook stuff. Oh well. As almost every editor had done the same job last year, the yearbook ran reasonably smoothly this year- a welcome change. In fact, temporary insanity was cut down to a minimum by our staff's ability to work together and work hard (very hard). Our fearless leader, Anne Cavanaugh, was able to organize deadlines and cover up other people's mistakes like a pro (even if she got mad at us sometimes). We couldn't have done this without her. The beautiful photography displayed for you in this book was taken by our co-photography editors, Sara Mason and Peter Livolsi. Having done the same job last year, Peter was well prepared to take all the pictures necessary, while Sara, new to the yearbook, quickly learned how to take many pictures in a very small amount of time, how to organize what needed to be done and how to deal with the incredibly large amount of stress we yearbook editors get to deal with all the time. As our copy editor with no staff, Marcella Grigg did a great job writing about every event, class and club that exists at North Shore. Our Business woman, Shannon Patinkin was also a great organizer and sold all of the wonderful advertisements in the back of this book. Lastly, our lay-out editor Katie Blehart, was great at organizing and learned how fun it was to spend Friday evenings with Anne doing all of the pages her staff had forgotten. We would also like to say thank you to all of those who helped along the way; Cheryl, our advisor, Mr. Almquist, our photo advisor, and Mrs. Lockhart, who helped with much of the special events photography. Finally (if you've made it this far-Congratulations) we would like to say thank you to everyone for buying one of our books (we made it for you), for dealing with us in our times of yearbook fever, and good luck to next year's staff!

The Diller Street Journal

DSJ, the Diller Street Journal, is a periodical produced by North Shore students. It is a quality piece of writing that consists of top-ten lists, editorials and other articles. The participants of this journal work at it very hard, going to each Tuesday meeting and staying at North Shore until all hours of the night laying out each paper. The DSJers are dedicated to their periodical literary works. Hats off, DSJers, for your hard work.

Prosody

Prosody, North Shore's literary magazine, was a hard magazine to complete. It took months of hard work on the part of teachers and students to compile this book of artwork, poems, stories and other literature produced within the North Shore community. Prosody comes out in late May, and is always well-recieved by the teachers, parents, students and others outside North Shore.

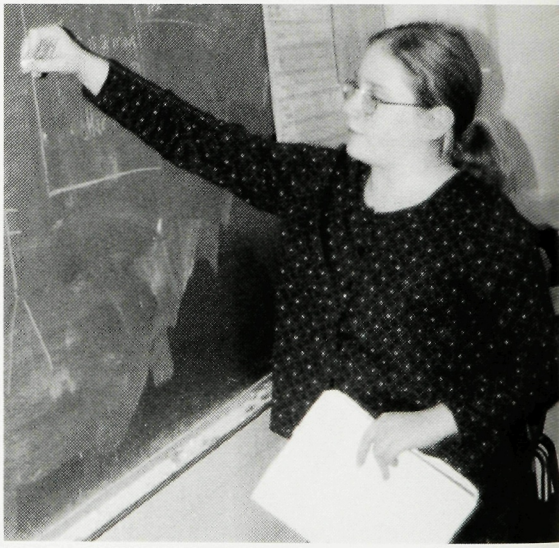

M S Student Council

The student council of the middle school was effective this year. Meetings were held each week and consisted of comments from each representative. Class representatives were able to convey their ideas and communicate with the president and other members of the M.S. Student council executive committee. Who knows? Perhaps one of these budding politicians will be the president some day!

US Student Council

The upper school student council was headed by president Kathleen Blehart. She worked hard with students, teachers and administrators to communicate ideas. The student council meetings were held for an entire lunch period each Monday, and often fired up fiesty debates. All in all, the student council represented their student body justly and with pride.

Choristers were busy this year, participating countless days after school for one chorus event or another. Mr. Querio's talent at conducting and choosing the songs that fit just right with our chorus made a very memorable year for the seniors and members of other classes who will be in chorus in the future. The year was filled with chorus memories, stories to tell for years to come.

Pillows

Anne Cavanaugh, Sara Mason, Brittany Larsen

Poetry in the Literary Lives of Worldly Students, or PILLOWS, enjoyed another boomingly successful year. Meetings were held weekly, and there were about four PILLOWS events during the year. The great thing about PILLOWS is that one may find a reading of the literature of William Shakespeare and a performance of the music of Bob Dylan all in the same ten minutes. The coffee house atmosphere transforms Mrs. Blaney's room into a bohemian getaway.

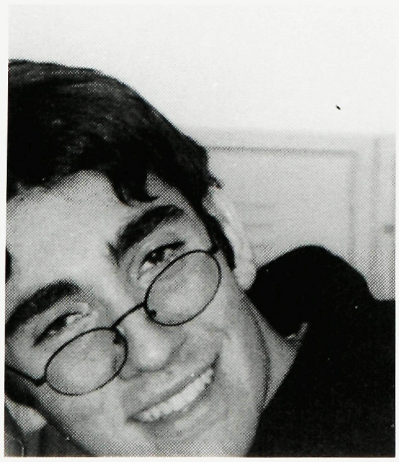

Community Service

Aaron Schwartz, Rachel Goodman, Nikki Mash, Minji Woo, Mr. Cronister, Amelia Keegan

There are countless programs that the community service club heads up, including the Asian Youth Center, Merryville Center and the Inspiration. It meets each week with the goal to uphold the ideals of North Shore's motto, "Live and Serve," and the sense of reaching out to the outlying areas. Community service is an important program to all those at North Shore; it teaches us what we may not learn in any classroom.

Model United Nations

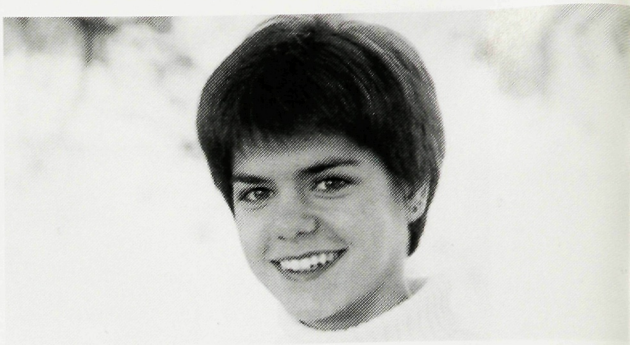

Started by a small group of students this year, the model UN has become a very popular club. Students of all ages spend their Tuesday lunch periods discussing international issues and important current events. It is a great club and is both fun and educational!

Another new club this year, the international club was formed by a group of students who wanted to discuss being from a foreign country and expose others to their home country and culture. To do so, the club held regular meetings and hosted a lunch and dinner that welcomed all students. It was a great way to expose North Shore students to new things.

This year's volleyball team had a great season-- the first winning season in over 5 years, in fact. Under the leadership of head coaches Bonnie Swarsen and Rich Wu as well as assistant coach Jing Phengpipat, the team worked hard to achieve their goals. While varsity captains Anne Cavanaugh and Erika Kondo helped bring their team to new levels of play, JV captains Allie and Lizzie Horevitz and Sabrina Mondschein helped to bring their team together. All of the seniors will miss being a part of this fun and hardworking team in the future; however, they know the team will be well led by the spirited and determined juniors next year. Thanks for a great season, girls!

US Field Hockey

US girls' field hockey had another season of rebuilding. We had tons enough spirit to make up for any weak areas. The 1998 season was one we may never forget (how come we caused such a ruckus all the time?). Seniors Shannon Patinkin, Rachel Goodman and Kate Hutchins worked together as captains to make us close while Katie Blehart, Marcella Grigg and Pria Sinha cheered us on and gave us occasional comic relief. Through sprints and suicide drills, 3 days of games in a row, homecoming and everything else, we proved we were a solid and great team, even though our record did not prove it.

Upper School Soccer

Upper School boys' soccer was successful and more widely known in 1998. These boys sure knew how to pass and receive! With the guidance of coaches Dachille and Cronister and wonderful senior participation, these Raiders "spanked" many teams. Next year promises to be strong and rewarding. Expect to run and be sore on your first day of preseason, boys, but it is all worthwhile in the end.

Upper School boys' football had another smashing year. These raiders learned how to pass and tackle as well as play the North Shore way. Football had a record-breakingly successful year and it was definitely a team effort that made the season that way. Coaches Jay Bach and Jim Deuble provided sound expertise and vocal encouragement. Even though these boys faced teams that had 6'2", 220 lb. players, they grinned and bore it. Great job, guys!

This year's Upper School Tennis team had a great season. Because there was no team last year, much of the season was spent building on basic skills and building a team bond, but by the end of the season everything was great. Not only did they have the first girls' tennis win in three years, but Coach McHugh was named coach of the year! The team will miss seniors Yvonne Zusel, Brittany Larsen and Marianna Buchanan next year but the relatively young team is off to a great start!

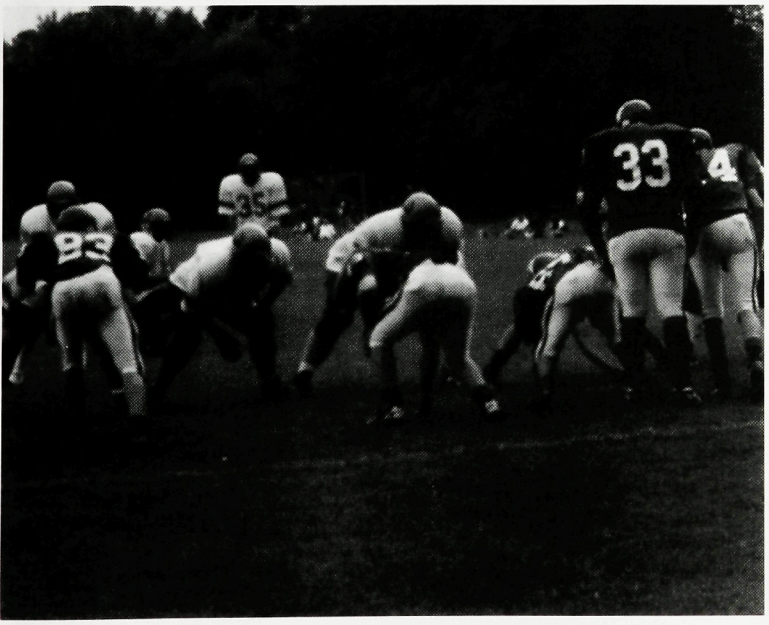

MS Football

Although there was not an official middle school boy's football team, a group of students did come together to play some scrimage games throughout the season. These boys learned what it was like to play a rough and tough game of tackle football. All players improved immensely and showed off their talent to the coaches and friends. They all had fun and look forward to next year hoping for some more competition.

MS Volleyball

MS girls' volleyball was both exciting and a great learning experience. The girls learned how to spike, pass and hit like never before. Their competitive drive was immense, and they played wonderfully for North Shore. The eighth grade volleyball girls will be missed next year, no doubt, but we will look forward to the 1999 season.

Middle School girls' field hockey had a great season; each girl learned a lot and benefited from the different levels of play on the team. These lady raiders learned stickwork and conditioned themselves to be able to play in two halves of intense play. The sixth and seventh graders will no doubt be sad to see their leaders leave. However, they will leave a legacy and room for more girls to step into.

US Boys Basketball

Boys' basketball had a great season. They enjoyed their practices and coaches as well as the great fan turnouts for home games. Although these practices often ran until after they expected to leave and included harsh workouts, they proved to be helpful; each season, the boys' basketball team improves a great deal. The boys will be sad to see their senior leadership gone next year, but for sure, the new seniors will step up and become leaders.

US Girls Basketball

The lady raiders had a great season with a stunning number of wins. These girls were helped by their rigorous coaching and training schedules as well as a huge number of games. Although the team only had one senior, Emily Sola, to lead it, it was successful at accomplishing goals and having lots of fun. These girls had a wonderful season, and look forward to next year.

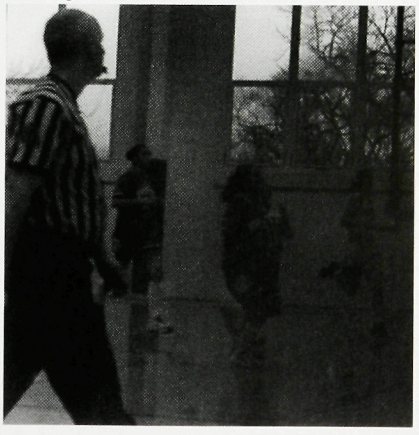

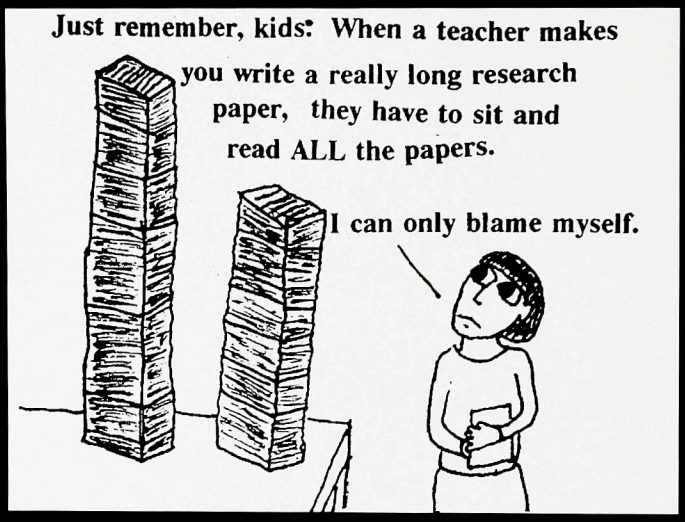

Top row: Jay Bach,Erica Grigg, April Figueroa, Emily Gaud, Amelia Kegan, Krista Jablonski, Mickeya Murray, Emily Fitzgerald, Emily Sola, Julie Webb, Mr. Schmidt; 2nd row: Oana Florescu, Naomi Hattori, Liza Roden, Sabrina Mondschein, Christine Castilla, Emily Yates, Jae Hee Chang

Second grade had a great year. We learned about many subjects like math, reading, science and history. We also had fun in music and art classes where we got to sing and make neat projects. We also went on some very cool field trips. We had a lot of fun with our teachers and friends and we look forward to next year!

Thrid grade

Third grade is: The Hot Chocolate House, cursive writing, Field Museum, candy box research, Native American Day, SSR, Taffy the hamster, the Colonial Feast, Activity Time, Adler Planetarium, Sunrise/ Sunset chart, Underground Railroad, This Day in History, Math Towns, Lincoln Park Zoo

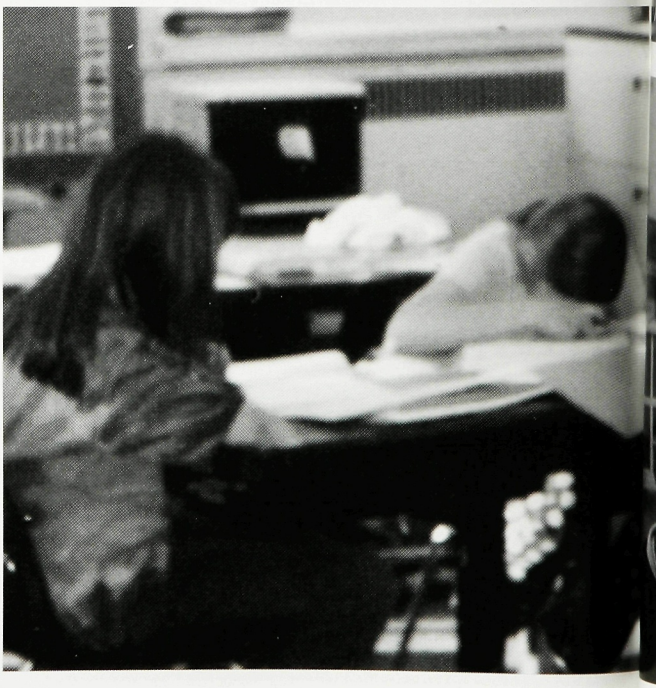

Fourth Grade

Fourth graders enjoy reading, writing, problem solving, and investigating. They provide weekly estimation challenges for the entire Lower School, publish their own books of poetry, identify number patterns, venture on archaeological site tours, take care of crayfish, explore literary genres including fables, fiction stories, memoirs, and persuasive letters, strengthen their multiplication and division skills, learn about ancient civilizations such as Mesopotamia and Egypt, analyze and graph data, study opera, compare fractions, read short stories and novels, play math games, have peanut and fish feasts, and discuss current events.

Fifth Grade

"Afternoon Ex...P.R.I.D.E..."Walk on the Wild Side I, II, and III"...Outdoor Adventures...Travel Mates...LS Closing...the "M&M Corner"...are all memorable events from our Fifth Grade experience. For the first time, two head teachers were a part of the fifth grade as the class grew to a total of thirty students. The activities were varied and the academics where challenging, but the fun and adventure never stopped! The weather being so cooperative, the daily football games at recess continued right up to winter break giving the boys some much-needed exercise of the body after the rigors of the classroom. The girls held regular lunches with Miss Ross and enjoyed the time discussing the many issues of the day. Mr. Lindenmayer, "Mr. L," kept all his reading and math groups entertained with his stories and experiences and even managed to find some time to teach the subjects! Our year was filled with many challenges, from learning how to really write an essay to knowing the multiplication tables frontwards and backwards, to discovering just how much we were really capable of accomplishing if we work hard and stay dedicated. We certainly feel prepared for what lies ahead in the Middle School, but most of all we are glad for the time we've spent in the fifth grade. Friendships have blossomed, skills and knowledge have been broadened and enhanced, and best of all, we've had fun doing it! "

Sixth Grade

Sixth grade is a year of exploration and discovery. Through hands-on, project based instruction, students learn about the study of Life Science, Middle Ages, Survival Math, the Writing Process and Geography. Some projects include: a Bedouin tent or model, the 3D model of the animal, plant and/or bacterial cell, the creation of human skeletons, a map of a make-believe world, and a banking and investment simulation. Sixth graders attend many field trips which enhance the curriculum. Some field trips include: The Art Institute, the Museum of Science and Industry, The Cook County Juvenile Court, and The Museum of Broadcast Communications. Intellectual curiosity and community are the foundations of the curriculum. Students work together to problem solve and to make sixth grade a safe environment in which everyone, students and teachers, can learn.

Seventh Grade

This year in the seventh grade we learned many new and interesting things. We went from learning about biomes or a type of environment to learning about the Great Chicago fire. Some other topics we learned this year were human rights, the frontier, and the history of "Grand old Chicago." Our basic focus was on North America. Seventh grade is separated into two sections. soclish (social studies and English) and sciath (math and science). We also have a special time reserved for doing projects together as a whole class, working on current work, or just having fun. We do all these things during a period that we call PDS 2000, which means Perry Dunlap Smith 2000. We have this period on Mondays and Fridays.
- Lizzy Lehman

The 8th grade has been up to its usual fun treks, starting with outdoor ed at Timber-lee, which was wonderful! Some trips reflected the cultures we studied in Humanities: the Field Museum and Mama Desta's Red Sea Restaurant for Africa, a Chinatown excursion with Cantonese lunch for China, and the Art Institute and an Indian restaurant when we studied India. We also went to Fox Studio's Weather Station for an excellent tour with Steve Schill when we did our weather projects in Science. Then, of course, there was Washington in February, a trip no one will soon forget! Other highlights have included the African play we did in January for Morning Ex, our Autobiography/Genealogy project, and, last but not least, COMMENCEMENT in June!

The 1998-99 freshman class was a group of active, rambunctious students who were always willing to participate. Freshmen were involved in each school and extra-curricular activity possible. They truly bonded as a class. Although the year started out a little tough at first, they all got the hang of the school by the end. The freshmen eagerly await next year, when they can oh-so-proudly taunt down the hall, "FRESHMEN!" to passers-by. This class should prove to be both involved and cohesive in the years to come.

Sophomores

Leigh Cross; 3rd row: Seong Hoon Kim, Lizzie Horevitz, Chris Hossfeld, Nathan Vojta, Amelia Kegan, Scott McClenahan, Mike Zusel, Mark Bachta;2n
Smith, Alex Escamilla, Sabrina Mondschein, Alexis Halper, Liza Roden, Jamie Webster, Mr. Poholsky;holding Placard: Amanda Burnett, Jae-hee Chan

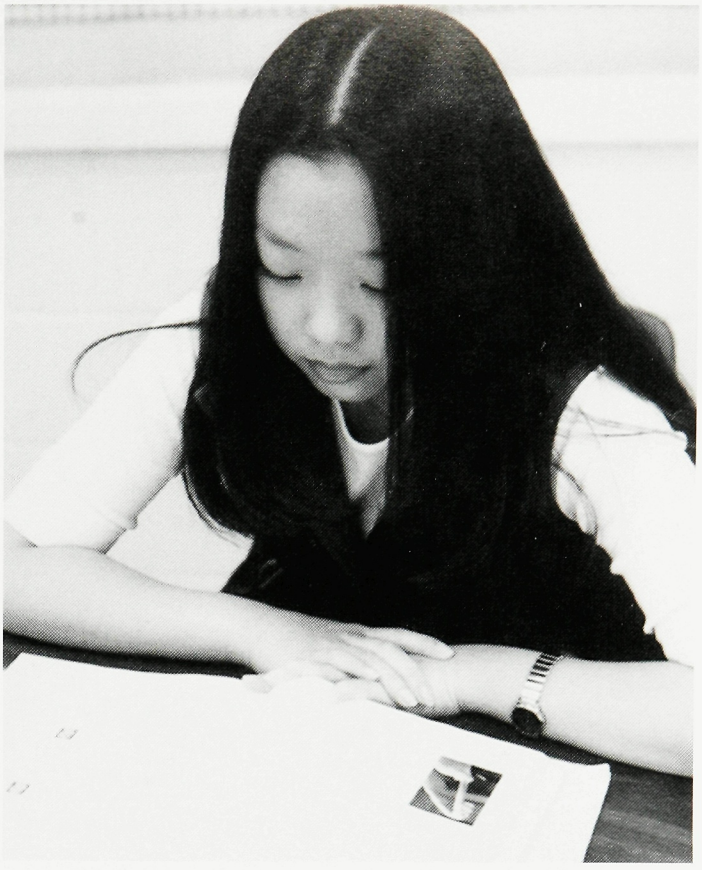

Sophomores enjoyed this school year. They got to know their teachers much better and even got a little time to socialize. Sophomore year is arguably the best year of high school; one is not a disoriented freshman, a loaded-down junior or a college- frazzled senior. Sophomores became involved in activities and even started their own clubs. We wish them good luck next year, and hope that they continue being involved in North Shore and our outside communities.

Junior year. The milestone! One can be positive that by the end of junior year, a totally new work ethic has been learned. Through all the stress and gray hair it was all worth it. Memories from a distant and fading freshman year are fond, but these juniors are excited to rule the school next year (and perhaps redecorate the senior homeroom).

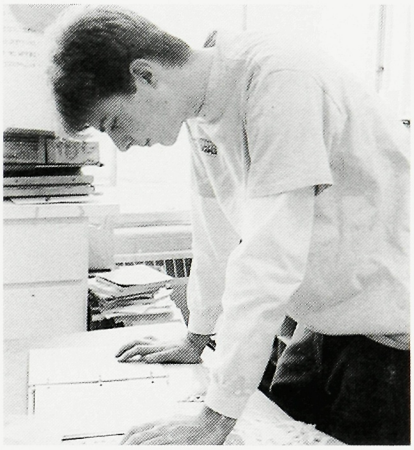

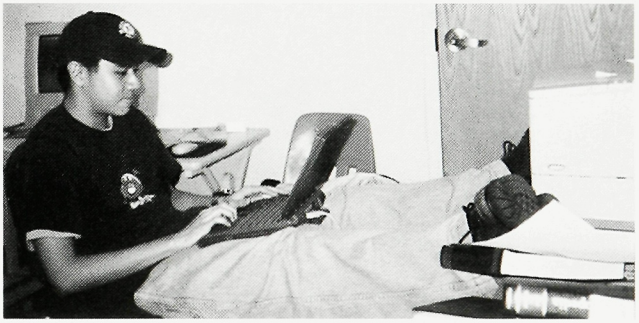

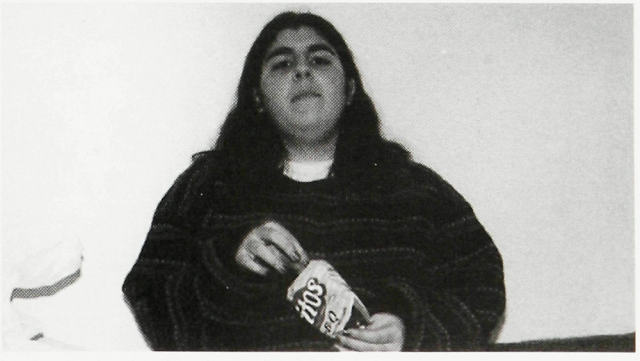

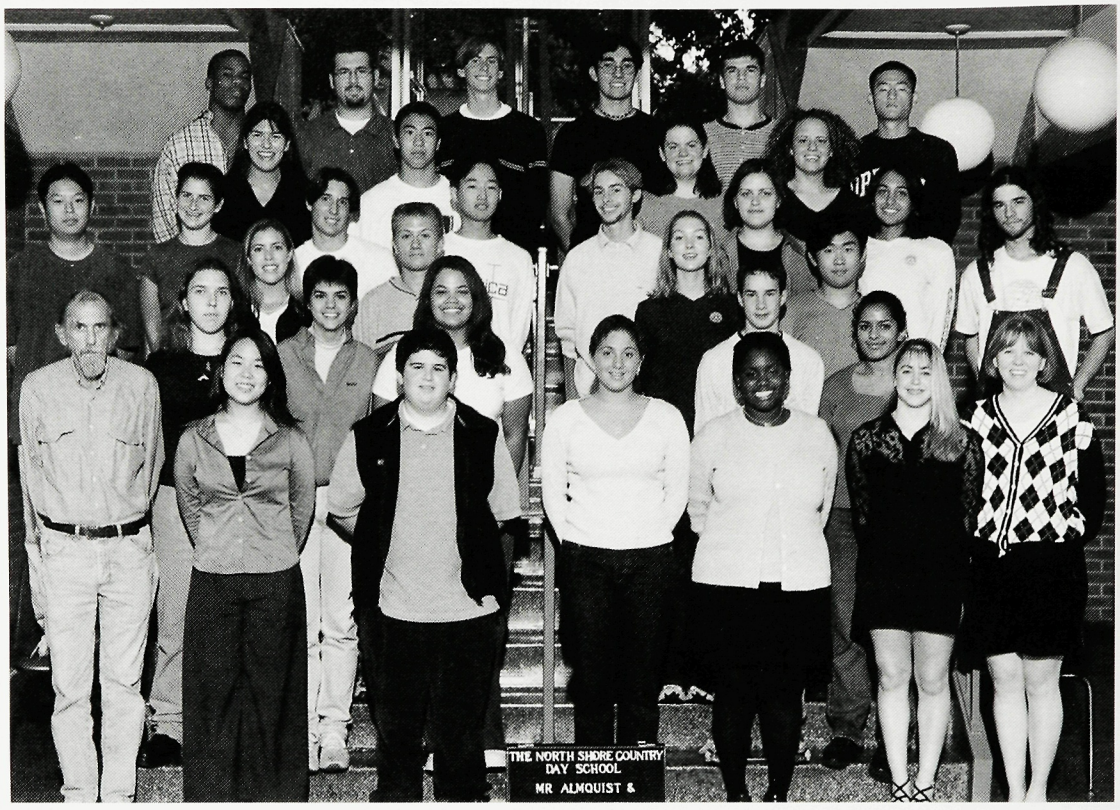

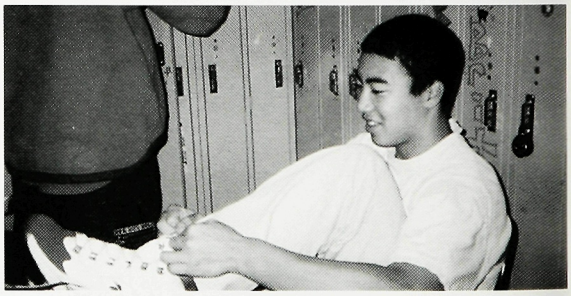

Seniors

The class of 1998-99 proved to be a more tightly-knit bunch than many expected. After January and our application worries were left behind, the downhill slump of waiting became rather bothersome. But we got through it! The class of '99 is full of able students, so competition may have been an issue, but in general we had little to argue about. . . Now, if we could just fix the obscene bulletin boards!?!!

Lifers

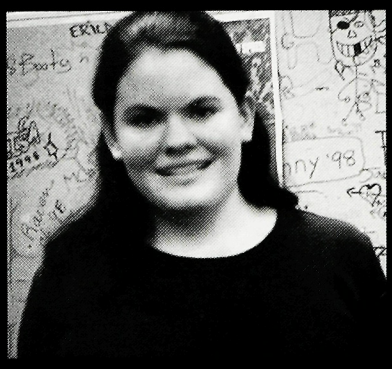

Anne Cavanaugh and I have been at North Shore since kindergarten. North Shore has become like a second home to me. There are familiar faces everywhere I turn, from Mrs. Hall who was a librarian when I was in lower school to Mac McCarty who has been an ever present face in my life at North Shore. Jim Deuble and Jay Bach and Mrs. Washburn all taught me during kindergarten. The greatest things about North Shore are its sense of community and family.

Many of the traditions that were in place when I was in lower school still exist today. I remember performing the hoky-poky with my senior buddy, the holiday dance and work day. I have seen many people come and go throughout the time that I have been at North Shore. However, there are a few people in the high school that I have gone to school with since kindergarten. The other lifers in the high school feel like siblings to me after all of these years.

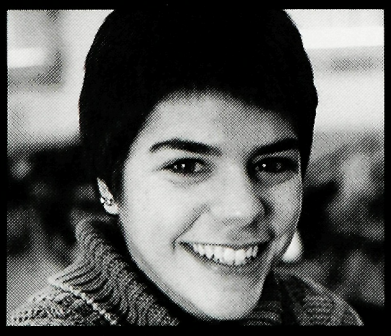

It will be very weird to leave North Shore since it has been such a large part of my life for so long. North Shore is an amazing place. The teachers, traditions and students have all been crucial components of my North Shore experience that have given it special meaning.

When I first thought about spending a year abroad, I had many expectations, but I did not even expect all of the wonderful times that I have had in the United States. Without a doubt this year has been one of the best in my life. I will never forget the great people that I've met and the good times I've shared with them. I thank North Shore for giving me this wonderful opportunity to go to school here. When I was told that I would attend North Shore, I never expected the great experience that I have had. Thanks, everyone!

Senior Prophecies

Katie Blehart was last seen in Egypt digging up remnants of a newly discovered ancient civilization. When asked her opinion of her job as an archeologist, she simply said, "I dig it!!"

The hot new restaurant "Get A Life On" is owned by successful North Shore Alum, Martina Gunaratnam. Although she still hasn't learned to drive, her career as a chef has made her wealthy enough to have several personal chauffeurs, and a large number of fancy cars.

Brittany Larsen was perhaps best known for her performance as 'Mimi' in the revival of RENT. She then went on to star in her one woman show, "Ani: The Life of Ani Difranco," which has already received 10 Tony nominations. At the premiere of Peter Livolsi's new movie "Drug Trafficking," the two met up and are now working together to produce a film version of "Ani."

After pursuing their separate careers as the first woman Rabbi in Beijing and a world renowned harpist with the New York Philharmonic, Sara Mason and Anne Cavanaugh reunited to form the hit group 'The Violet Women.' With their folk-rock style in the tradition of Dylan, Mitchell, and Taylor they have become the voices of the new generation.

Matt Shay had not been seen for a number of years, until a recent PBS documentary on Chinese Art, where he was sighted in a Shanghai museum.

While writing for her college newspaper, Yvonne Zusel was discovered and recruited by the New York Times, where she now writes one of their most popular columns entitled 'Poppycock.'

After retiring from the opera, Margaret LeBlanc works as a waitress by day and a writer by night. She has just published her first book of poetry entitled, The Life Of An Irish Nun inspired by her performance in the NSCDS production of "Young Eugene."

After being 1st in his class at Yale University, Jon Lehman moved to New York City where he stared in Broadway revivals of all the Gilbert and Sullivan classics which were rewritten in a lower key so that he could play the romantic lead. He now works as a movie producer in Manhattan.

Kate Hutchins became a famous lawyer who was known for winning cases with her unreasonable and illogical arguments. When asked where she developed this strategy she replied, "I owe it all to North Shore Country Day School English classes!!"

After graduating from Bates College, Shannon Patinkin went on to pursue a career as an extreme skier. After an injury that kept her from skiing any longer, she opened up a vacation resort in Colorado which has a reputation for being "A snowy Club Med." It is a popular destination for thousands of high school and college aged students each year.

After reaching the stature of Frank Lloyd Wright, David Spector became so frustrated with all of his fame and fortune that he retired to the mountains of Tibet where he has taken a vow of silence as a Buddhist monk.

After winning a record number of Olympic gold medals for running, Charlie Vojta retired his farm in Woodstock, IL, where he is now a football coach at the local public high school.

While in college Minji Woo began designing pens, stickers, and stationary for her friends. After college she expanded this hobby into a business. She has since become the modern day Lisa Frank.

After graduation Davis Chin moved to a remote island off the coast of Australia. He brainwashed the residents of the island using a complex mind control system to overthrow the current government so that he could form his own dictatorship. When last asked about his plans, he stated that his next goal would be to rename the island "Chin."

Alana Andrews moved to Los Angeles to begin a new life after college. She decided to use her life savings to open up a dance club in L.A., but unfortunately it failed miserably. She decided to use the last of her savings to open up a boutique which sold nothing but pants with zippers up the sides, vinyl clothing, and platform shoes.

With a double major in business and fashion design Yong Bae moved to New York City. He began working as a cashier at the DKNY store, but was quickly promoted. He now heads up all of DKNY's business affairs, using his spare time to consult with the top designers.

Calvin Robinson, at the age of 36, retired from the NBA, being the career leader in points, assists, and steals. Being a millionaire and never needing to work another day in his life, Calvin decided that it was time to give back to the community by opening a chain of athletic clubs for the little people.

After a disappointing basketball career, Mike Chen decided to join the WWF. After he founded the RWO (Russian World Order) Mike "The Soviet Sensation" Chen became an instant success, crushing both Hulk Hogan and his NWO faction. Unfortunately, the out of control obscenities he shouted during his matches caught up with him, and he ended up in the Cook County jail. Luckily, his high school buddy John McQueen who had since become a successful lawyer, heard about Mike's imprisonment and came to his rescue.

After a brief period of playing professional women's volleyball, Erika Kondo joined the New York Philharmonic as principle pianist where she played with former classmate Anne Cavanugh for a time. She soon became one of the best know pianists of our time. However, she eventually tried of the fame and fortune and retired to a career of painting. Her work is currently on display at the Smithsonian. (So much for escaping fame.)

Drew Smith also attempted a career in professional volleyball but soon discovered that short volleyball players are not in high demand. Feeling quite defeated, Drew pursued a career in business. Many years later, while watching his daughter play volleyball in her Middle School league, he realized that he was tall in comparison to her teammates and is now happily working as a Junior High Volleyball coach.

After returning to Spain, Gema Lopez used her knowledge of economics to earn billions in the stock market. She used this money to start a number of, now, well know charities and has bought houses all over the world so that she can travel.

After college, Nikki Mash decided to pursue her dream of becoming a fashion designer despite her doubts of ever being successful. Having always loved Paris, she moved there and got herself involved in the fashion scene working as a secretary in various design companies. Ironically, Nikki was soon discovered while sitting in a small cafe sketching designs. She is now one of the top designers in Paris and was even asked to design a dress for Brittany Larsen when she attended the Tony's.

After Graduation from college, John Zavelovich began working his way up to the top of a large cooperation. He eventually became the C.E.O. and was famous for his having arrived at that position despite his inability to be cruel and take advantage of others. However, like many of his North Shore classmates, the fame became to much for him so he moved to New Zeeland where he owns a small goat farm.

Kyra Seay attended college as a film major but after graduation she found herself without a job in the field she desired.However, she did not let this stop her. So she moved to California where she began working as a bartender in famous LA clubs. She eventually met Steven Speilberg who agreed to look at a sample film. He was so impressed with it that he hired her as chief cinematographer on his next film. After the premier, many viewers were heard saying "The movie was awful but the cinematography was beautiful" She is now working with Peter Livolsi and Brittany Larsen on "Ani."

While in college, Jae Yong Lee majored in engineering. Although his major in and of itself took a lot of time, he also joined the university's soccer team. He is now the first Chief of Material Science Engineer at NASA to leave every four years due to a side career of Olympic soccer.

Rachel Goodman continued to donate large amounts of time and energy to community service. She was so generous that she donated all of her clothes (two large closets full), makeup and shoes to charity.

After college, Emily Sola continued on to medical school and became a successful doctor. A few years later she developed an all-natural, non-addictive substance that allowed one to have endless amounts of energy. This came in very helpful to students, like herself, who pulled all-nighters on a regular basis.

Marcella Grigg became a successful business entrepreneur, developing a store which sold organizational equipment for anal-retentive people. She also set the world record for the Across-America Race.

Like her former classmate Erika Kondo, Pria Sinha also became a famous concert pianist, however, she found her fame playing with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. She later began a side business creating pants and skirts for long-legged women. She is now working on her autobiography entitled Overcoming the Tragedy of Long Legs while writing and illustrating children's stories.

Marianna Buchanan gained popularity for her famous cackle. Discovered by her present agent while laughing at a restaurant, Marianna now travels the world, being shown funny things so that everyone can enjoy the sounds of contagious laughter.

Aaron Schwartz was discovered by a modeling agency that liked his tall, slim, physique and amazingly wild fashion sense. He became so famous for his runway strut, that he was even hired to star in Nikki Mash's spring show. He is now working on his own cosmetic line.

Ohm Pishitlumkin started his own cult: "OHM." Its philosophy incorporated bits of Communism and Buddhism, however the main aspects are "No work, Revolution and Worship Ohm."

Editor's Notes

Layout this year was a success! I must thank my wonderful staff, without which none of this would have been finished (Martina, Mari, Tori, Aaron, Leigh, Lizzie, Emily). This year we tried to shake things up a bit with a few black background pages and some tilted pictures here and there, not to mention the surplus of candid pages. I hope this yearbook is as enjoyable for you as it was for us to create! Last but not least, I have to thank Anne for all of her patience and fortitude; I cannot sing her praises enough. Thank you Anne! -Katie Blehart, Layout Editor

As my first year as a yearbook editor, I was not quite sure what I was getting myself into. Eventually I did get the hang of things; like how to contact every single faculty member via e mail, or how to sustain myself without eating lunch during the week of a big deadline. There are several people without whom there would be no photographs in the yearbook: First and foremost, I'd like to thank Anne for keeping me calm and showing me the ropes; My coeditor, Peter, who nagged me and didn't mind me nagging him; Luke, Chris, Mike, Andrea, and Mr. Almquist without whom there would be no pictures, my Grandma, for getting me the cool new camera with the nose that moves in and out; my parents who took pictures when I couldn't; and of course, the rest of my NSCDS buddies who kept me sane, and didn't complain about the occasional surprise flashbulb in their face. -Sara Mason, Photography Editor

First of all I would like to thank Anne Cavanaugh and the rest of the staff for all of their help and guidance this year. As the business manager it was my job to solicit advertisements from businesses and families. I would like to thank all of the businesses and parents who contributed this year. To the class of 1999, congratulations and good luck! -Shannon Patinkin, Business Editor

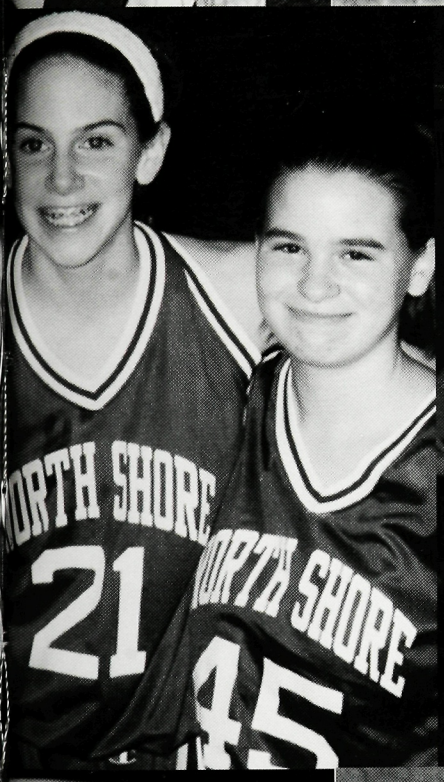

Thanks to Anne for her patience, Sara for her immense help, Chris Davis and Mike Chen for their assistance in developing and especially Mr. Almquist. I've enjoyed working with all of you this year and I hope the supplement goes smoothly. -Peter Livolsi, Photography Editor

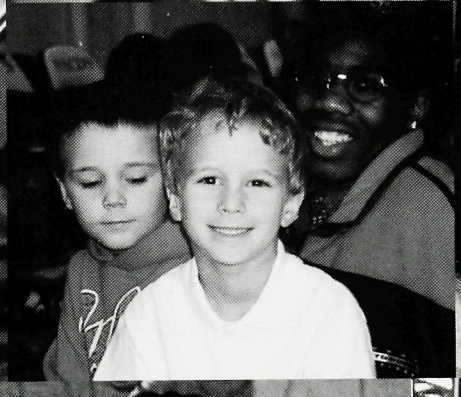

The 1998-99 Mirror will be better than last year's, I'm sure! Thanks to all of the editors and staff for a job well done, and for being so supportive (especially Anne Cavanaugh, editor-in-chief queen!). Although I have had a few last-minute jobs, working on the yearbook has been enjoyable; I may even miss it. Good luck to the creators of the 1999-2000 Mirror-writers,etc. -Marcella Grigg, Copy-Editor

"It was the best of times, it was the worst of times, it was the age of wisdom, it was the age of foolishness." This Dickens line really explains the life of a North Shore Yearbook editor. Although, at times, the Mirror brought me extreme pain and agony, it's finally done and it was quite an experience that was even fun on occasion. As a final statement, I would like to make a few thank yous to all of those people who have helped me to produce this book. To my staff-I could not have done it without you, you do great work. To Mrs. Lockhart-thank you for all of you photos, they have bailed me out of a number of problems. To Cheryl-thanks for all of your help through the rough spots. To my friends-thank you for dealing with me when I was the most pleasant person to be around. And lastly, To Tori-I don't know how I would have survived without you, you have helped me so much. Good Luck to all in the future. -Anne Cavanaugh, Editor-in-Chief

Dear Anne,

14 years is most of your life now. And although you've changed a lot since 1985, these past 14 years are only the beginning of your journey. You've done a great job and had a wonderful start. As you continue on your way, may you always have wonderful friends:

friends to comfort you when life is too much,

friends to share their knowledge,

friends to share their energy,

and friends who are simply there for you.
